DEATH IN BIBLICAL NOTES

The first woman letter writer on record was Queen Jezebel, wife of Ahab, and she used her pen for the purpose of deception. The story is told in I Kings, 5:10. When Ahab was mourning because he could not obtain Naboth's vineyard by fair means, Jezebel conceived of foul ones. "So she wrote letters in Ahab's name and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters to the elders and to the nobles that were in his city, and that dwell with Naboth." They suggested a plot which resulted in the death of Naboth by stoning.

An earlier letter mentioned in the Bible was written by a man and was equally detestable. When we remember the contents and the purpose of David's letter to Joab, how it did for Uriah what Jezebel did for Naboth, and from a dirtier motive, we could have wished of this too that it had never been preserved.

The writing of letters has proved to be disastrous to more than one man, and they have brought downfall to many. Every one should be careful of what they write. Good letters, like good thoughts, bring back good things.

DANCE TO ATTRACT MATE

On some of the islands of the Pacific, in tropical South America, is found the beautiful bird known as the jacana. It is famous for its so-called love dances, which appear to be executed by the male to excite the admiration of the female birds. When the mating season approaches the jacana will single out its favorite lady and try to win her admiration with all its bewitching maneuvers. In the dance the wings are spread and worked in such a manner that the beautiful colored feathers produce a brilliant effect.

VETERAN PREFERENCE
UNDER NEW U.S. LAW

The Deficiency Act, approved July 11, 1919, provides as follows:

"That hereafter in making appointments to clerical and other positions in the Executive branch of the Government in the District of Columbia or elsewhere preference shall be given to honorably discharged soldiers, and marines, and widows of such and to the wives of injured soldiers, sailors, and marines who themselves are not qualified, but whose wives are qualified to hold such positions."

This statute does not exempt those entitled to its benefits from liability to examination, but they will be required to attain an average percentage of only 65 in order to be eligible will be released from age limitations, will be certified for appointment without regard to the requirements of appointments in the departmental service, although they must prove residence and domicile as required by law, and when eligible will have their names placed in the order of their grades ahead of those not entitled to such preference.

The provision is not limited to veterans of the War with Germany; it applies to all honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines. Commissioned officers, army field clerks, persons who served in the Student Army Training Corps, enlisted army and navy nurses will be regarded as soldiers, sailors, or marines within the meaning of this provision and as entitled to the benefits thereof.

Welfare workers who accompanied the military forces, civilians attached to the expeditionary forces, including dietitians, nurses and other civilian employees in the military hospitals, persons who were discharged from the draft, not being actually and finally accepted for military service, and contract surgeons will not be entitled to the benefits of the statute.

A blank form on which claim for preference may be made will be furnished upon request. The discharge certificate of the veteran or a photostat or certified copy of same must be furnished, if possible, otherwise, an official statement as to his military record from the War or Navy Department should be submitted.

The widow of a veteran who desires to claim preference should ask for form 2248. The preference to wives of injured soldiers, sailors, and marines is limited to those cases where it is shown that the soldier, sailor or marine is physically disqualified for examination by reason of injury received while in the military service and in the line of military duty. Fuller information concerning these provisions will be furnished upon request.

DEEPEST OIL WELLS

Of the four deepest oil wells in the world, two are in West Virginia, one in southwestern Pennsylvania and the other in Germany. The deepest is the J. H. Lake well, of the Hope Natural Gas company, which was abandoned at 7,579 feet.

The second deepest well is the M. O. Goff well, drilled 7,388 feet, about eight miles northeast of Clarksburg, W. Va., also by the Hope Natural Gas company. The third deepest well is at Czuchow. The fourth is the R. A. Geary well, drilled to a depth of 7,248 feet, in southwestern Pennsylvania, by the People's Natural Gas company, according to the United States geological survey.

In comparison with these depths, other depths reached by wells or mines are insignificant. The deepest mine in the world, for instance, is shaft No. 3 of the Tamarack mine, in Houghton county, Michigan, which has a depth of 5,200 feet.

THE MAIN RELIANCE

New York Tribune
Every one is incensed at the profiteer, the hoarder, the speculator in the necessities of life. All favor jailing the guilty and opening the warehouses. There is universal applause for the policy of leaving nothing undone calculated to relieve pressure. If we can't get full relief, then half relief is better than nothing, and no skeptical finger should be pointed at any sincere attempt to help. But in the main we must rely on working and saving if we would have a more satisfactory balance between the income and the outgo for the elements of the population which are not yet adjusted to the new conditions. Work and save! Increase production and lessen consumption. Wages cannot be forever jumped up if prices are to come down.

HAMMERS AND HAMMER WELDERS

Every mining district has its hammer-welders, but as a rule they keep under cover, says the Tonopah (Nev.) Daily Miner. They dare not come out in the open. Just as long as the mining industry flourishes you will find the skeptical and disgruntled; you will find the man who is out of sorts with the world in general, but he is mighty careful to whom he tells his tale of woe when it comes to discrediting the merits of a town, city or district. This man is a detriment to the community in which he resides and he would prove a detriment were he sent to another place.
